

Turn This World Around (From Behind the Eyes)

Amy Grant

We are all the same it seems,
Behind the eyes.
Broken promises and dreams
In good disguise.
All we're really looking for
Is somewhere safe and warm.
The shelter of each other in the storm.Maybe one day
We can turn and face our fears.
Maybe one day
We can reach out through the tears.
After all it's really not that far
To where hope can be found.
Maybe one day
We can turn this world around.
You can trace the path of time.
Not you and me.
The twisting road we call our lives,
We cannot see.
The hunger and the longing
Every one of us knows inside.
Could be the bridge between us if we try.Maybe one day
We can turn and face our fears.
Maybe one day
We can reach out through the tears.
After all it's really not that far
To where hope can be found.
Maybe one day
We can turn this world around.
After all it's really not that far
To where hope can be found.
Maybe one day
We can turn and face our fears.
Maybe one day
There'll be laughter in our tears.
After all it's really not that far
To where hope can be found.
Maybe one day
We can turn this world around.
We can turn this world around.

Maybe we can one day
Turn this world around.
Oh, let's turn this whole world around.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>