Someday

Drew Holcomb

I've known you for years;
You always say that we're just friends.
Over a hot cup of coffee,
You just talk about him.

We take a ride through the city.
I play some music to ease your broken heart.
You put your head on my shoulder
And I just try to listen.

Someday, I will hold you in my arms.
Someday, you will know that I am the only one for you.

Our love is slow and easy,
But you don't even know it,
Well I've got nothing but time,
For you to recognize it.

Someday, I will hold you as my own.
Someday, you will know that I am the only one for you.

I've known you for years;
You always say that we're just friends.
