"The Lake of Memory" - 7th Order (Daniel Jones) 2003©7th Order Songs ASCAP

by the light of the fire you watch the snowflakes falling it's the plight of desire into despair you've fallen while you look for a reason an explanation for why we are caught in perpetual seasons drifting alone through a sea of stars in the fullness of time, I found that all the choices are mine

i will decide my own destiny
In the fullness of time

into the heart of the sun the final journey's just begun and while we're looking back on our lives i'll be right there to wipe those tears from your eyes

now please consider these answers let us dispense with confusion the king, the beggar, the dancer the changing face of illusion lingering questions, they slip away like a winters night replaced by solemn perceptions new understandings of wrong and right

we lose the fear, and find the secret i'll turn the tables and take a stand i won't be taken in by a sleight of hand i'll raise my hand against the powers rally the troops and seize the tower throw open wide the gate on the Armageddon hour

i'm telling you now let's get it on, they're gonna stand down open wide the gate

and once the story's told and we've crossed the last threshold the wheels begin to turn and the fire of passion burns

ah, we'll share eternity ah, the lake of memory

and once we've found the force we'll reunite of course i can feel the time is right we'll walk into the light
