Loco

David Lee Murphy

Little Hula girls on the shot-glass
All we needs a little salt and lime
We can plug in the hot pepper lights
And pretend that were livin' on Key West timeI can run to the store and get some charcoal
Buy a Tiki torch and fire up the grill
The whole town wants to know when I'm gonna' grow up
But you know I never willYeah, I might be a little bit loco
But it keeps me from losin' my mind
Oh but half insane, that's ok
Babe a little bit crazy's alrightThere's nothin' wrong with a little excitement
No, it makes me forget about work
'cause I live by the rule, that everything's cool
Just as long as nobody gets hurtYeah I feel like I'm on vacation
Honey, you say the word and we'll go
'Cause your getting' to me in those cut-off jeans
And that T-shirt from Sloppy-Joe'sYeah I might be a little bit loco
But it keeps me from losin' my mind
Oh, but half insane, that's ok
Babe, a little bit crazy's alrightYeah the deep end might be so close
Oh that I'm hangin' on for dear life
Yeah I might be a little bit loco
But a little bit crazy's alright
That's right....Yeah, I might be a little bit loco
But it keeps me from losin' my mind
Oh but half insane, that's ok
Babe a little bit crazy's alrightYeah the deep end might be so close
Oh that I'm hangin' on for dear life
Yeah I might be a little bit loco baby
But a little bit crazy's alrightYeah, I might be a little bit loco
But it keeps me from losin' my mind
We might be a little bit loco baby
But a little bit crazy's alright
Get crazy, babyMight be a little bit loco baby
But a little bit crazy's alright!

Songwriters
TRIBBLE, KIM CHADWICK/TRIBBLE, KIM CHADWICK/MURPHY, DAVID LEEPublished by Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc., CAROL VINCENT & ASSOC LLC, DO WRITE MUSIC LLC

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/