Nothing to Prove

Caroline's Spine

should be able to get over yourself nothing given means nothing can get kicked around i fear you and i occasionaly think too your insecurity makes livin' life tough on me but i don't know if you feel this way all the time hear me... i don't think you're right i know you've got nothing to prove and i ponder why you're always trying to take what's mine hear me... i won't fight you i know you got nothing to provei'm always able to get over myself i still remember how you helped me figure it out
i fear you and i occasionaly think too your insecurity pollutes your bouts of purity but i don't know if you feel this way all the time hear me... i don't think it's right i know you got nothing to prove
and i ponder why you're always trying to take what's mine
hear me... i won't fight you i know it's not my wayi guess now you know why i never call i guess now you know why i never call i guess now you know why i ...we should be able to get over ourselves time in small quantity i think would work very well and i don't know why you feel this way all the time
hear me... i don't think you're right
i know you've got nothing to prove
and i ponder why you're always trying to take what's mine
hear me... i won't fight you you know it's not my way

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/