Your Biggest Fan

Boyce Avenue

I've never been the quiet kind, for you I will.
I've never let my heart go blind, for you I will.
I've never laid my head down in somebodys arms, for you I will.
I've never been the one to admit that I was wrong, for you I will.So hold on, hold on this means a lot to me.
Cause I know, I know that you will always be.
The one, the one, the one that I can count on for anything, anything.
And I'll always be your biggest fan, and I'll always be your biggest fan.I've never had much use for these scars in me, but I love that you do.
I've never had much hope for my insecurities, but I love that you do.
And everything that I lack and could never be,
The other half is you, it's always been you.So hold on, hold on this means a lot to me.
Cause I know, I know that you will always be.
The one, the one, the one that I can count on for anything, anything.
And I'll always be your biggest fan, and I'll always be your biggest fan.Whoa, through the storms and through the rain, you always gave me shelter
And through my doubts, and through the fame, you never let me stray
And everything I'm not, you are.
I need everything you are, so baby
Hold on, hold on this means a lot to me.
Cause I know, I know that you will always be
The one, the one, the one that I can count on for anything, anything.And I'll always be your biggest fan, and I'll always be your biggest fan.
You know I'll always be your biggest fan, and I'll always be your biggest fan.
And I'll always be yours.I've never been down on one knee, for you I will.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/