Me, My Enemy

Thunderstone

I've been waiting this day, waiting for my decay
Just a question of time when I see the light
And this pain of mine, now it's crossing this line
I am reaching the final answerWhat can I lose this way, I choose
Is my own to the promised land
I have the keys, I will release
My soul to the other sideThese years and these days, godforsaken ways
I've been fighting my way through my life
And this weight pulls me down, there is no one around
I'm alone with my anger and painWhat can I lose this way, I choose
Is my own to the promised land
I have the keys, I will release
My soul to the other sideI believe that I will fight forever
To the end where the answer lies with the truth
Take my hand, my oldest friend and come with me
To the place there's no one else, but me, my enemyI believe that I will fight forever
To the end where the answer lies with the truth
Take my hand, my oldest friend and come with me
To the place there's no one else, but me, my enemy
