

All We Ever Look For

Kate Bush

Just look at your father
And you'll see how you took after him
Me, I'm just another
Like my brothers of my mother's genes All they really want for you are the things they didn't do
All they ever wanted, a little clue, all they ever wanted, the truth
All they ever wanted, a little bit of you, all they ever wanted
But they never did get The whims that we're weeping
For our parents would be beaten for
Leave the breast and then the nest
And then regret you ever left All we're really looking for is another open door
All we ever look for, another womb, all we ever look for isn't our own tomb
All we ever look for, another womb, all we ever look for
Just a little bit of you, too, all we ever look for but we never do score
