The Boatman

Celtic Legend

If I could choose the life I please
Then I would be a boatman
On the canals and the rivers free
No hasty words are spokenMy only law is the river breeze
That takes me to the open seas
If I could choose the life I please
Then, I would be a boatmanIf I could choose the life I please
Then I would be a rower
And if the road was not for me
Then, I would choose anotherCross mountains and the valleys deep
Where I would take these weary feet
If I could choose the life I please
Then, I would be a rowerBut these things they're so hard for me
I cannot choose my own destiny
And all the things that I want to see
Are so uncleanWell, I wish I could choose the life I please
But I am not a free man
Others rule my destiny
But my will's never brokenI know someday, I will be Everything that I dreamed, I'd be
And when I live the life I please
Then, I will be a freemanI know someday, I will be Everything that I dreamed, I'd be
And when I live the life I please
Then, I will be a freemanAnd when I live the life I please
Then, I will be a freeman

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/