Wearing Thin

Further Seems Forever

This is the last time I'll try to reach you
And my guess is that you'll just ignore it
Just ignore me
Without a passing glance
Without the slightest sigh
Without moving your hands
Without the softest cry
If I'd say
Go your own way, I'll be with you
Make mistakes and I'll forgive you
Home is waiting here for you when you return
Rain reveals your foundation
And this one's wearing thin
And shifting in the sand
And the water does its damage
With its endless beating pulse
Heralding the end
Without a passing glance
Without the slightest sigh
Without moving your hands
Without the softest cry
If I'd say
Go your own way, I'll be with you
Make mistakes and I'll forgive you
Home is waiting here for you when you return
This is the last time I will try to reach you
Try to reach you
And my guess is that you'll just ignore it
Just ignore me
Go your own way, I'll be with you
Make mistakes and I'll forgive you
Home is waiting here for you when you return
