

Wearing Thin

Further Seems Forever

This is the last time I'll try to reach you
And my guess is that you'll just ignore it

Just ignore me

Without a passing glance

Without the slightest sigh

Without moving your hands

Without the softest cry

If I'd say

Go your own way, I'll be with you

Make mistakes and I'll forgive you

Home is waiting here for you when you return

Rain reveals your foundation

And this one's wearing thin

And shifting in the sand

And the water does its damage

With its endless beating pulse

Heralding the end

Without a passing glance

Without the slightest sigh

Without moving your hands

Without the softest cry

If I'd say

Go your own way, I'll be with you

Make mistakes and I'll forgive you

Home is waiting here for you when you return

This is the last time I will try to reach you

Try to reach you

And my guess is that you'll just ignore it

Just ignore me

Go your own way, I'll be with you

Make mistakes and I'll forgive you

Home is waiting here for you when you return
