Changin'

Sharon Ridley

Lyrics:

Your love keeps changin on me.

When we first met, we were always together. No matter what hour - what day or the weather.

You gave me love with a capital "L". You were always willing to suffer, just to keep me well.

As time moved on, we both sat and talked. Then you took our love for granted and left it out to spoil.

Chorus: And now I feel it - I feel the changes. Your love just keep right on changin. Baby, I feel it - I can feel your love changin - your love, keeps changin on me.

Now loves day has ended. No more feelings to hide. The sun is going down and the truth is the night. And now I see it, I see it in your eyes, the things you said to me, were really nothing but lies.

Chorus: Baby I feel it. I feel it when you touch me - when you move close to me, I feel your love changin. Baby I feel the changes - you're changin on me. The way you use to hold me just does not affect me. Ooh baby, don't touch me - can't you see it's over. I feel it - I feel the changes.

That's right baby, stop pretending! Don't act like you don't see it! Cause I know, that you know, that our love has ended.

Let's keep it clean boy, and say good-bye. Let's wish one another luck to the end dear. And seek to find a new beginning.

I wish you well! We did what we could for each other. Now we've come to the end of our road - new roads to discover.

Baby, I'll always love you. I love you for what you are - but our thing is over, let's not take it too far. Let's end as friends, I'll see you tomorrow. Whatever the future holds for me, I can't say - I don't know. But I'm willing- I'm willing to face it - try to start a new life for myself, you can mistreat someone else.

So it's over - between you and me baby. I feel it - I feel it inside me.

I feel the tension whenever we're together. What I thought was love and would last forever - is over...

Thanks for any thoughts, recommendations, etc.
