Superdrag

how come you won't let me? how come I'm flushing it again?
how come you don't want me to blow?
I've got a napkin for your chin and if you never tell me, I guess i'll never know and if you never breathe it, well it'll never snow and if you never wake up, I guess you'll never sin and if you take that vow babe, I'm strokin' it again how come you won't let me plug you?
I guess repression wins again I know it sounds like I don't love you just cause the thought might make me grin and if you never tell me... when I go down I hope you're in the ground with me cause you're my bride why did I let you slide?
I'm still in town - don't see you around but if you care, I guess i'll still be here
