Still I Believe

Eric Benet

i once believed that the face of love would be so clear to see -- one kiss conceives giving birth to endless joy- thats what i believed but ive been slapped out my trance from this bliss of ignorance while the stench of disappointment i would breathe ive played the roles brilliantly the villain, the victim and in between pushed the limit of my strength and sanity still i believe (oh oh) in love
still i believe (oh oh) in love
still i believe (oh oh) in love
still i believe (oh oh) in love your eyes your eyes given half a chance could slice my heart in two (in two) oh ive tried (ive tri----ied) at least a half a dozen times probably the same for you (for you) ive been the angel, been the beast ive been confused and had clarity i went the distance only to find there was nothing there (nothing there) take your hearts place your bets on this game of russian roulette if you lose they wont remember or even care (oh well)
but still i believe (oh oh) in love
still i believe (oh oh) in love
still i believe (oh oh) in love
still i believe (oh oh) in love yes i do---ooo though i walk thru the valley i dont fear you ill never stop believing though i hear you (hear you) i know youre looking but youll never find me (find me) when ever i smile--you are grieving (grieving) when ever loves around me you are leaving (youre leaving-----g)
shut the hell up now and get behind me shut the hell up and get behind me chorus + adlib xs 3

fade out

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/