Deep Down Truth

The The

Your bed at night
Awake, uptight
Your hopes, your fears
Your lips, God's earsDays come and go
Beauty dissolves into skull
Time keeps spinning round
History thunders downEvery step of the climb
Led you to this place and timeThere's no more power in darkness than in light
There's no more truth above you than inside
The deep down truth, the deep down truthYour heart, your mind
Uncoiled, unblind
Ego undressed
All the time compressedInto that shadow on the wall
From the raindrop waterfall
Crawling down the misting glass
To the future from the pastEvery step you take
Leads you from this time and placeThere's no more strength in hatred than in love
There's no more truth beneath you than above
There's no more truth in sadness than in joy
There's no more tenderness in girls than in boys
The deep down truthThere's no more truth in hope than in grief
There's no more truth in a saint than a thief
There's no more truth in fate than in chance
There's no more truth in your mind than your heart
There's no more justice in peace than in war
There's no more time behind us than beforeThe deep down truth, the deep down truth
The deep down truth, the deep down truth
The deep down truth, the deep down truth
The deep down truth
