Truth and Reconciliation

Leuko

take me past the color of your eyes take me from the past of all my mistakes to where the future lies i know that my moods were changing like the weather do you ever dream of us together? now i just want to show you who i am holding on to dreams we collide (we had) our futures
our reasons
our fingers on the trigger when we base our joy on the things that we see we lose the trust in it all and the faith we believe if you'd just trust in me (I know) you know i trust you (I don't deserve it but) we'll do all the things that you've dreamed to do if you'd just let go let your heart go remember when i used to be your everything? now i'm nothing at all trust me i've tried to let you go but i can't move on what i do now will affect what comes then and this life that i lead will be everything you need i pray to be all that you dream and i'll die trying to be
