

Left Alone

Sleeping with Sirens

There's nothing really left to say
And I don't need you to explain
We don't need those lies
So tired of living in the past
So if we're gonna make it last
We should leave it all behind
I'd rather you lie than throw it all away
How deep do you want to go
Don't you know that some things are better left alone
How deep do you want to go
Don't you know that some things are better left alone
They're better left alone
I think we may have gone too far
We're losing sight of who we are
How do we get back? (How do we get back)
To a time where it was so easy
Cause I don't need you
And you need me
Oh, what happened to that? (Whoa)
I'd rather you lie than throw it all away
How deep do you want to go
Don't you know that some things are better left alone
How deep do you want to go
Don't you know that some things are better left alone
They're better left alone
Alone, Alone, Alone, Alone
How deep do you want to go
Don't you know that some things are better left alone (Better left, better left)
How deep do you want to go
Don't you know that some things are better left alone
Better left alone (Alone, Alone)
Better left alone (Alone, Alone)
Alone, Alone, Alone, Alone
