

Titebond IV

Dryjacket

A tidal wave sweeps through the living room
We don't move an inch
You called at five AM
I'll let it slide
Just don't call again The payoff reinsures that it's worth it
Resistance is telling me that it's working
It sets in and present tense loses meaning
Play this down, accordingly I'm clouded again
Just blink twice to let me know that you'll be safe
They'll let you go
A tidal change takes place
Same rules apply
Just too old to change
The payoff reaches that, it's worth it
Resistance is telling me that it's working
It sets in and present tense loses meaning
Write this down, date and time for posterity Just blink twice to let me know that you're safe
