Carry On

Solea

Been so long since i've seen this kind of change
Carry on i can see the games that you play
Underneath there's a smile that i can't erase
Keep then close all the memories you can't replace
Follow the signs that warn me i should have known
Just what you've always wanted from me
This is anything but the end
Guess that i couldn't make up the rest of you mind
Even thought i could do with out all the lies
All this hope is slowly slipping away
I could wash my hands of this any time night or day
