

By Heart

Jackalope Junction

I'm afraid of the dark
So he turns on the light
How does he know what's in my head
    Why I cry, when it rains
    He doesn't make me explain
Just dries me off and puts me to bed
    But it feels good
    'Cause he knows me by heart
And it feels right, don't want it to stop
    He knows what I'm like
    And he knows what I'm not
    He knows everything about me
    He knows everything about me
    He knows me by heart
    And that scar on my arm
    He guessed where I got it from
What I love and what I just can't stand
    And he waits when I'm late
    Doesn't try to set me straight
    He takes me just the way I am
    But it feels good
    'Cause he knows me by heart
And it feels right to want it to stop
    He knows what I'm like
    And he knows what I'm not
    He knows everything about me
    He knows everything about me
    He knows me by heart
    He sees all
Don't know how he sees through
    He sees my black and white
    He sees my black and blue
    I really don't know why
        I don't have a clue
    But who he thinks I am
        Is who I am it's true
        He sees all
        He sees through
        Sees my black and my blue

Don't know why it's true
But it feels good
'Cause he knows me by heart
And it feels right to want it to stop
He knows what I'm like
And he knows what I'm not
He knows everything about me
He knows everything about me
He knows me
