

Glastonbury

Editors

Seven stars at the break of dawn
I see a sign and my mind is gone

Here I am and I wonder why
Crows fly by in the crimson sky

I look around, I look around,
I look around, and up and down
I look around, I look around,
I know that silence has a sound

Silent songs come into my ears
Trees are wise with their souvenirs
Horses run with each one their knight
Memories die at around midnight

I look around, I look around,
I look around, and up and down
I look around, I look around,
I know that silence has a sound

And Iâ€™d love to hear
Iâ€™d love to see
And Iâ€™d love to be
Love to be
And Iâ€™d love to touch
And Iâ€™d love to feel
My mind is still
And the horses run
The horses run

Seven stars at the break of dawn
I see a sign and my mind is gone

I look around, I look around,
I look around, and up and down
I look around, I look around,
I know that silence has a sound

I look around, I look around,

I look around, and up and down
I look around, I look around,
I know that silence has a sound

And Iâ€™d love to hear
Iâ€™d love to see
And Iâ€™d love to be
Love to be
And Iâ€™d love to touch
And Iâ€™d love to feel
My mind is still
And the horses run
The horses run

---

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by EULRY, FRANK / VOULZY, LAURENT / CALVERT, ANN / BITTON, CATHERINE

Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>