

Happily Ever After

Jenny Phillips

Once upon a time
A child was born into this life
Heaven could be seen in her eyes
There was no doubt she was divine
And if you are still, you will feel the truth
That the princess in this wondrous story is you

Chorus
It's your time
It's your destiny to shine
So arise
Be true to the royal
That's inside of you
Don't settle for the story that
The world would have you write
You were born to reach eternal life
Let faith fill every chapter
Let the Savior lead you to
Happily ever after

Sometimes in your life
The world will cast a spell
And try to make your conscience fall asleep
And forget the woman God would have you be
But if you are still, you will understand
The noble role you play in His plan

Chorus
When the forest fills with darkness
And the wolves seek your soul
Just know
You are simply in the place between
Your once upon a time and your triumph in the end

Chorus

Lyrics submitted by Staci.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>