Euthanasia Roller Coaster

Major Parkinson

Yesterday you told me aout a place where everybody is happy all the time
Far away above the pines, they're dressed up to the nines
The purple carriages are levitated up from the ground into the sky
People are crying so cheerfully
They know they are going to die

Chorus:
Say goodbye to the girl with the prosthetic hands in the backseat
Waving to the beat of the band
Say goodbye to grandpa in his iron lung
Feel the magic of the merry-go-round
Say goodbye to Mr. Anaesthetic and his friends
To the paraplegic and molested men
Pulled up into the stratosphere
Itâ€™s a one way ticket to ride
A one way ticket to ride

Yesterday we talked about the stars
And then you told me that there ain't no cure for life
But far away on the other side
Silence has no price
When all the carriages are levitated up from the ground into the sky
People are crying so cheerfully
They know theyre going to die
In the euthanasia rollercoaster
Buckle up and watch the roasting jack of hearts in spiralling rotation

Say goodbye to the world - fading to the beat of the band!
