Horizon Line

Mike Gordon

I project myself
To different places when I look at them
When I look further
I see my old self displaced again

Walking on that horizon line
Two steps further and I've fallen behind
Any closer and I'm stuck back in my mind

Now you talk to me and I see
Myself jumping through the window
I'm making plans but I'm Walking on that mossy green plain now

I'm walking on that horizon line
Two steps further and I've fallen behind
Any closer and I'm stuck back in my mind

Walking on hills so green and rolling wide
Like a smile
I'm on the clouds between me and the sky
All the while

I'm all alone and I'm
Floating in the ether without you
I've never shown you this Light and now I'm about to

I'm walking on that horizon line
Two steps further and I'm falling behind
Any closer and I'm stuck back in my mind

I'm walking on that horizon line

Walking on that horizon line
