This Is the Part

Gratitude

I've built up this collection, souvenirs from years
Of missed connections, I'm giving it all away
So here's a ripped up picture and here's an unused ticket
From the show, the play, the game I'm giving it all away
Yeah, this is the partThis is the part where we start to feel better
And stop shutting up
We're all running out of time, waiting in line
Yeah, this is the part, ohThis is the part where your friend got sent
And all the big war words stop making sense
And you wonder where the money ever got spent
And you wonder how that motherfucker ever got inYeah, this is the part where you get to realize
Whether your dad died, your boy, your girl lied
There are families on the other side, it's a start
It's the same place for any and all hearts, this is the partThis is the part where we start to feel better
And stop shutting up
We're all running out of time, waiting in lineYeah, this is the part where we start to feel better
And stop shutting up
We're all running out of time, waiting in line
Waiting in lineYeah, this is the part where we start to feel, yeahThis is the part where we start to feel better
And stop shutting up
We're all running out of time, waiting in lineOh, this is the part where we start to feel better
And stop shutting up
We're all running out of time, waiting in lineOh, oh, this is the part, oh, oh, this is the part
Yeah, this is the part, this is the part
This is the part where we start to feel
