The Freak Out Song

Megan Slankard

On a wayward sail in the middle of the ocean
Drenched in the sun, drenched in my suntan lotion
Radio cries, still the station dies
The only sound I hearThink it up as then I wipe it from my head
I can't call thinking work without a little sweat
You're like a child so immaturely wild
You make me scaredI break out, signal breaks up
I rewire, shake you up
I restart again
Think you could be brokenFreak out, get the receipt
I'm lookin' up the warranty
I dust off all the dirt
Take apart just to make you workYou're not much for a little conversation
You're so shy, you use abbreviations
Think you smiled, used to be so kind
But I don't remember anymoreI break out, signal breaks up
I rewire, shake you up
I restart again
I think you could be brokenFreak out, get the receipt
Lookin' up the warranty
I dust off the dirt
I take apart just to make you workI find I finally found your freedom
Fight me and I'll fight back with you
You need not give me instant reasons
Find I'm lying, finally you are tooI find I finally found your freedom
Fight me and I'll fight back with you
You need not give me instant reasons
Find I'm lying, finally you are tooI break out, signal breaks up
I rewire, shake you up
I restart again
I think you could be brokenI freak out, get the receipt
Lookin' up the warranty
I dust off the dirt
I take apart just to make you workI break out, signal breaks up
I rewire, shake you up
I restart again
I think you could be brokenI freak out, get the receipt
Lookin' up the warranty
I dust off the dirt

I take apart just to make you work
Take apart just to make you work
