

All At Once (Live in Barcelona, Spain)

Jack Johnson

All at once
The world can overwhelm me
There's almost nothin' that you could tell me
That could ease my mind Which way will you run
When it's always all around ya
And the feelin' lost and found you again
A feelin' that we have no control
Around a sun, some say
There's gonna be, the new hell
Some say
It's still too early to tell
Some say
It really ain't no myth at all
Keep askin' ourselves are we really
Strong enough
There's so many things
That we got, too proud of We're too proud of
We're too proud of I wanna take the preconceived
Out from underneath your feet
We could shake it off and instead we'll plant some seeds
We'll watch em' as they grow
And with each new beat
From your heart, the roots grow deeper
The branches, well they reach for what Nobody really knows
But underneath it all there's this heart all alone
What about when it's gone
And it really won't be so long Sometimes it feels like a heart is no place to be singin' from at all
There's a world we've never seen There's still hope between the dreams
The weight of it all could blow away with a breeze
If your waitin' on the wind
Don't forget to breathe 'cause as the darkness gets deeper
We'll sink until we reach for love
At least somethin' we could hold
But I'll reach to you from where time just can't go
What about when it's gone, oh...

it really won't be so long
Sometimes it feels like a heart
Is no place to be singin'
From at all
