A Dark Passage

Blind Guardian

I feel cold, facing the darkness
The light's gone away
Deep in his castle, he said
All land'll be mineThere's one thing for sure
The triumph of shadow is near
Deep in his castle, they sang
We shall not rest until all will be thineAll land is mine
You can be sure
Don't dare me
The mighty one screamedSmashed down the light
I will not rest till I'm king
Valinor's empty now
Allied the elves and men
They shall be damnedRise of fall
A dark tale endsJust wondering how
In the darkness
They found their way
To the right placeChildren of the sun
Second kindred
We call their race
Treat them kindlyBorn in the east, night fearer
(Are the)
They moved westwards
Towards the sunshine
(They are)
Morning breath likeShort's their life, dawn passes by (Like)
When the day comes
The field was lost
(And)
Hope had passed awayThe sun went down
Beyond the sea
Dark was the hour
But day shall come againSmashed down the light
I will not rest till I'm king
Valinor's empty now
Allied the elves and men
They shall be damnedClean my wounds
Wash away all fear

Let courage be mine
No one hears me cryingNo song, no tale
Which contains all the grief
(But)
Renowned the deeds
And the victims of defeatSit down on your chair
And look out for your kin
With my eyes, you'll see
And with my ears, you'll hearYou troubled my day
And you've questioned my strength
(But)
Don't mess
With the master of fateSmashed down the light
I will not rest till I'm king
Valinor's empty now
They shall be damnedI smashed down the light
And dared Valinor
I smashed down the light
Revenge will be mineSlowly marching on Still we're marching on
