

The Minute of Decay

Marilyn Manson

There's not much left to love
Too tired today to hate
I feel the empty
I feel the minute of decay I'm on my way down now
I'd like to take you with me
I'm on my way down I'm on my way down now
I'd like to take you with me
I'm on my way down The minute that it's born
It begins to die
I'd love to just give in
I'd love to live this lie I've been to black and back
I've whited out my name
A lack of pain, a lack of hope
A lack of anything to say I'm on my way down now
I'd like to take you with me
Im on my way down
Im on my way down The minute that it's born
It begins to die
I'd love to just give in
I'd love to live this lie
I'd love to live this lie How do you see it?
How do you know?
How do you see it?
I've looked ahead and everything was dead
(How do you know?) I guess that I am too
(How do you see it?)
I've looked ahead and everything was dead
(How do you know?)
I guess that I am
I guess that I am too The minute that its born
It begins to die
Id love to just give in
Oh, Id love to live this lie
Id love to live this lie I'm on my way down now
I'd like to take you with me
Im on my way down I'm on my way down now
I'd like to take you with me
Im on my way down
