

Sheila Doran

Christie Hennessy

Sheila Doran loves Joe Kelly, Sheila Doran wrote this song
Sheila Doran loves Joe Kelly, they walked out for 9 years long
Now one evening when they were waking out, A soldier passed on their way.

Sheila Doran said to the soldier do you remember me.

I came back Sheila Doran to see the places where we used to lay

I came back to say I love you, And I will never go away

No trains, No boats, No planes, NO wars will ever make me stray

Cos I love you Sheila Doran, This time I'm home to stay

Now Joe Kelly cut the soldier, he cut him by the throat

The more that Sheila shouted, the more Joe said no

He cut the soldier all around the head, Till the blood came out his eyes

Sheila Doran loves Joe Kelly, But Sheila Doran had to cry

Well it was written in the papers that Joe Kelly got 10 years, And they talked to Sheila Doran, All about the whole affair.

Bad luck to all the soldiers, there supposed to come and go our way.

It was his green eyes shining that ever made her stray.

Sheila Doran had gone to see her man, and she had just left there,

When a guard and a prisoner began to fight, And the bullets began to fly

Sheila Doran loved Joe Kelly, But Sheila Doran wants to die.

She called the priest come over, come over to my side

And bring your self a fountain pen, to write down these 3 lines.

This child inside me breathing life, whatever it be girl or boy.

Sheila Doran loves Joe Kelly, Sheila Doran had to die

Now it's written on the tombstone, for anyone who cares, To read of loves, misfortune, Brought on by hate and fear.

Bad luck to all the soldiers, bad luck to all their wars, bad luck to all you fighting men, No matter what the cause.

Sheila Doran loves Joe Kelly, Sheila Doran wrote This song

Lyrics submitted by William Brown.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>