

Fire

Ladytron

A red cell, a perfect view out of the novotel
Sat gently listening to this song
It started over again And the girl gets higher, the room's on fire
If you want her, let it go, hello,
The sun went in, and it started over again Linking an encyclopaedia of nothing
In half-written signatures and false names
It started over again And the girl gets higher, the room's on fire
If you want her, let it go, hello,
The lights went out and it started over again
