

Donovan (Live at Leeds Utd)

Happy Mondays

Six cheap people in an empty hotel
Every last one with a story to tell
Give them all pills, so their heads won't swell
We were borne to a woman whose husband did quite well Oh sunshine, shone brightly
Through my window today
Could have tripped out quite easy but i decided to stay
Hold out your hand said whitey with the blame
Gonna bring you up so you really dig the pain
Take you under my wings so you'll never be the same
'cause your wife is so much older and both her legs are lame
A sunbeam shone brightly through my window today
Could have gone 20 miles but i decided to stay All my flock has packed up and flocked back to hell
Open up the windows so the place don't start to smell
Carry on with what your doing 'cause you don't to it that well
I've been umpteen different people and no one else can tell Sunshine shone brightly through my asshole today
Could have tripped out quite easy but i decided to stay
To stay a while
Come up and see me make me smile
Come up and see me make me smile

Songwriters

RYDER, PAUL ANTHONY/DAY, MARK PHILIP/DAVIS, PAUL RICHARD/WHELAN, GARY
KENNETH/LEITCH, DONOVAN PHILLIPS/Ryder, Shaun William Published by
Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc., Universal Music Publishing Group Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>