

Slowly Slipping Away

Harem Scarem

There's a burning question in my heart
But I see the answer in your eyes
An uneasy feeling without you
There's only peace by your side Our hearts survived the cold world outside
Somehow this love keeps us alive
I feel it in the morning, I feel it all through the day
I feel the heartache, slowly slipping away, slowly slipping away We've had our share of confusion
We've been let down so many times before
But what I've found is a real love
No need to search anymore, no Somehow we've weathered the storms in our lives
This love has never been a lie
We will survive the cold world outside
Somehow this love keeps us alive
