

Have I Always Loved You?

Copeland

I never mind the talking down, the dreamers our world is standing still they wake up much too much but see our castle will be high above their arrows

Our glasses flowing still I remember you standing in the whitest dress I know
have I always loved you?
have I always known?
have I always loved you alone?

Never mind the storm that keeps us in at night
the cording on the leaves, the wind is much too much but I see you laughing at the table
maybe I should look away

but I only see you standing in the whitest dress I know
have I always loved you?
have I always known?
Have I always loved you alone?

Have I always loved you?
have I always known?
Have I always loved you alone?
