

I Wanna Thank You

Sloan

You had the best of intentions now
But the bad inventions let us down
And now it's gone Who really cares if we ever find a home
Yeah, yeah I wanna thank you, thank you for all the times we had Too bad there's no more money, next part ain't so funny
Everybody's leaving, it seems to be the season When your thoughts return to home
Can't you see that I'd rather be alone
Yeah, yeah Goodbye, so long
See you sometime Goodbye, so long
See you sometime Let me know if you're back this way again
Sing a song that reminds us of our friends I wanna thank you, you know all those times don't seem so bad
We live in a reflection, eliminate detection
As well as rhyme or reason, we always aim to please them And my thoughts begin to roam
Still I think I'd rather be alone
Yeah, yeah Goodbye, so long
See you sometime Goodbye, so long
See you sometime Goodbye, so long
See you sometime
