Needles

Depswa

Searching for higher meaning
I stumble to a fall
Laid you back and forth between the innocence
And the frail days that started onAnd the beginning was never this frightening
And nobody warned you of that
And you never thought something this beautiful
Could send you deeper into the abyssSo you're pushing the needle again
Hoping that when you do, somebody's waiting for you
Rusted and old, your feelings have numbed
When you find nobody therePushing farther and farther
You need someone, you need anyone
To show you yourself from deeper within
And if only someone could forgive youFor all that's been done and said
But maybe it's too late to change
And nobody cares anymoreSo you're pushing the needle again
Hoping that when you do, somebody's waiting for you
Rusted and old, your feelings have numbed
When you find nobody thereYou'll find out that nobody cares anymore
You'll find you'll have to save yourselfSo you're pushing the needle again
Hoping that when you do, somebody's waiting for you
Rusted and old, your feelings have numbed
When you find nobody thereNobody's there

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/