

Head South

Pretty Girls Make Graves

Walking away again
Seems like I know the back of your head
Better than the, better than the front But hey, you don't see me, don't see me stopping you
Not a word out of my mouth this time, just walk away
You don't see me, don't see me stopping you
'Cause I've got better things to do today You can just keep on walking
Looking smaller from my window
'Cause it don't hold the same as it used to Getting smaller down the street
Funny how sometimes you treat your best friends
Like they're not your friends at all You're walking away
Seems like I know the back of your head
Better than the front, but hey
You don't see me, don't see me stopping you
'Cause I've got better things to do today You think I'm happy with the lies that you feed me?
I'm unaware about the way you mistreat me
I think you underestimated our situation You think I'm happy with the lies that you feed me?
I'm unaware about the way you mistreat me
I think you underestimated our situation No, no, next time when you decide to leave
I'll have time to care, but not today
No, no, next time when you decide to leave
I'll have time to care, but not today You think I'm happy with the lies that you feed me?
I'm unaware about the way you mistreat me
I think you underestimated our situation You're walking away
Seems like I know the back of your head
Better than the front, but hey
You don't see me, don't see me stopping you
'Cause I've got better things to do today
