Come Between Everything

Chasing Victory

The ties that bind our hands are on our necks
And we're strangling for our final breath
We pass the torch along to our kids
We're burning there minds but we can't touch their heartsUntil our tears fall in love, I'll stitch my cheek to yours
And we'll dance all night under the moonlight
Like present-day towers, I'll crumble to a crashing defeat
And in the blackout we'll fall into a dreamYour love, what more could I sing of Your eyes, they were my first love
We'll start right back again like a million times before
Though we've fallen like leaves during autumnOur tears are mad in love and our cheeks
Are red and blush but I don't want to go to sleep
So I'll just fall into a dream, come between everything
Come between everything and blow me away
