

Bigger Bombs for a Better Tomorrow

Knucklehead

Yeah we all know, that this world is rough
And if we're gonna get by then we gotta get tough
But this eye for an eye shit will just make the whole world blind
Looking for M.A.D it's not a young idea
Though we don't want to know, they'll show us how it feels
Working night and day to make all out worst fears come true

There's been talk now, for 30 years or more
There's a new generation here, changing the score
And with each new step, we all lose a little time
In a race to the bottom no one sees the top
And each one's waiting for the next to drop
No one here wants to be the first to make it stop

We're building bigger bombs for a better tomorrow?

Lyrics submitted by Rod Beaudry.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>