

This Is How It Feels

The Golden Palominos

How does it feel?
This is how it feels
Like falling into the hole you say
Has replaced you soul
I never did the things you say
I'd never hurt you that way
You want to sit here in the dark?
Well I can stand a little dark
I try to take you up
But you drag me down down
I try to take you up
But you drag me down down
How does it feel?
You tell me
To lose your trust in everything
To lose your faith in everything
To be without the hope of change
To feel buried by a dream
To find even the language strange
To lose your trust in everything?
I try to take you up
But you drag me down down
I try to take you up
But you drag me down
How does it feel?
This is how it feels
Like I could stay with you forever
And always be alone
I can't reach you past the pride
And anger in the place you hide
You're so broken you're so blind
How can I reach you I can't find you
To be without the hope of change
To feel buried by a dream
To find even the language strange
To lose your trust in everything?
I try to take you up
But you drag me down down
I try to take you up

But you drag me down down
This is how it feels
This is how it feels
How does it feel?
This is how it feels
Like falling into the hole you say
Has replaced you soul
I never did the things you say
I'd never hurt you that way
You want to sit here in the dark?
Well I can stand a little dark
I try to take you up
But you drag me down down
I try to take you up
But you drag me down
I try to take you up
But you drag me down down
I try to take you up
But you drag me down
This is how it feels
You drag me down
This is how it feels
You drag me down
This is how it feels
You drag me down
This is how it feels
This is how it feels
This is how it feels
This is how it feels
