

Chill In The Air

Amos Lee

Well, the morning came like a freight train
Bearing down on me from a thousand miles of rail
Well it came and gone and kept rolling on
Laying up all night with my tear-stained sheet as my veil

I donâ€™t want to see you again, I donâ€™t want to feel your breath
As you leaned on me so peacefully while we slept
And I donâ€™t want the keys to our door, I donâ€™t live there anymore
And Iâ€™ll do my best just to forget the dreams weâ€™ve dreamt

Well, the morning came with the pouring rain
And I felt just as empty as a pail
With the evidence and your crime confessed
Donâ€™t seem right that itâ€™s me that spent a night in jail

I donâ€™t want to see you again, I donâ€™t want to feel your breath
As you leaned on me so peacefully while we slept
And I donâ€™t want the keys to our door, I donâ€™t live there anymore
And Iâ€™ll do my best just to forget the dreams Iâ€™ve dreamt

If you feel a chill in the air
Itâ€™s my spirit hanging somewhere
If you ever get scared
Look on the Brightside
You got a new life

Now the eveningâ€™s come and Iâ€™m all alone
And I canâ€™t tell if silence is my former friend
Well Iâ€™m holding on but I ainâ€™t too strong
I gotta get some rest before that train come back â€˜round the bend

I donâ€™t want to see you again, I donâ€™t want to feel your breath
As you leaned on me so peacefully while we slept
And I donâ€™t want the keys to our door, I donâ€™t live there anymore
And Iâ€™ll do my best just to forget the dreams weâ€™ve dreamt
Dreams weâ€™ve dreamt.
