

Goodbye Forever

Alkaline Trio

Take your wings outside, you can't fly in here
Besides a purple sky, better soaring for you my angel
You're an angel, you little devil
As for me I'll stay inside, I'll be just fine and I'll watch from the window Cannot categorize the nature of this sickness
A miracle that you're alive, stuck to the roof of my mouth with a staple Remember last April when we saw U.S. maple?
Somehow the singer showed the fireside exactly how I feel
And we say goodbye and go underground
Or up towards the sky, up in smoke burnt down to size
At least we're still friends, at least we're still alive
Take your wings outside, no use for them in here
Bad luck to open inside, work like umbrellas like a broken mirror
It's getting clearer, the end is closer than ever before
And you'll want nothing more, when your head hits the floor
And you're lost in the darkness
And we say goodbye and go underground
Or up towards the sky, up in smoke burnt down to size
At least we're still friends, at least we're still alive
And we say goodbye and go underground
Or up towards the sky, up in smoke burnt down to size
At least we're still friends, at least we're still alive
