

The Ballad Of Tom Jones

Space

In twenty years from now
I want to be nowhere
I live life day by day
Just sitting in the same chair If it wasn't for you
I'd have taken root
You gave me a brand new meaning
An extra season And all of this
From a girl who's
Scared of the spiders
And she's scared of the dark She's scared of the bogeymen in
The park
But if anybody comes near me
I know she'll cut their balls off They wrote a book about her
It's taken the place of the Holy Bible
I'd send her to the stars But the universe couldn't handle that ego
If it wasn't for you, I'd have taken root
You gave me a brand new meaning
An extra season And all of this
From a girl who's
Scared of the spiders
And she's scared of the dark She's scared of the bogeymen in
The park
But if anybody comes near me
I know she'll cut their balls off Scared of the spiders
And she's scared of the dark
She's scared of the bogeymen in
The park But if anybody comes near me
I know she'll cut their
If anybody comes near me
I know she'll cut their
If anybody comes near me
I know she'll cut their balls off
