

Skeletal Remedy

Seasons Lost

It's not been such a long time since you knew evil and you will again
The pollution, the stagnant mind, you lost your soul there is no hope to find
Under the leaves there is a tomb
Under the sky there is no room
The headstone is your home
For you will soon die alone

The skeletal remedy of the person you used to be

You're dying slow with nowhere to go but straight down to your true home

The shadows mock you on the wall, you and your infinite number of falls
The way the blade caressed your skin, releasing all the fucking evil within
And now you wear your mask of bliss
You're fucking hell-bent
The scars, a reminder, a kiss
That unveiled misery is a bitch

Taking of redemption's cup you spill it like a dog you lap it up
Walk the path of the broken spirit, you had fulfillment but passed it up? bitch!!!
