

Wolf In Cheap Clothes

Kovacs

Early blend on silver town
Mascarade them as the chosen one
But boy you're a liar, just a thief
Drift away all that's good in me
Don't waste your breathe
'Cause there's nobody left

Who believes in who you are
Say what you want I know just where you're coming from
Born to deceive
But baby you ain't fooling me
With your shiny shirts and funny lies
You're running out of time
Now that everybody knows
You're just a wolf in cheap clothes
Whisper sweet nothings in my ear
Take advantage and then disappear
We're some little lambs, so naive
Let you in while the shepherd sleeps
It's time to confess
And I know you're the best

And I'm wounding out of words
Say what you want I know just where you're coming from
Born out of lies
I've opened up my eyes
With your shiny shirts and funny lies
You're running out of time
Now that everybody knows
You're just a wolf in cheap clothes
You're just a wolf I've got a hunger to feed
Creeping up on every girl that you meet
Say what you want
I know just where you're coming from
Born to deceive
But baby you ain't fooling me
With your cigarettes and funny lies
You're running out of time
Now that everybody knows
You're just a wolf
Now that everybody knows
You're just a wolf in cheap clothes

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>