

Roots of Heldrasill

Necrophobic

Driven by an iron will
Driven by a ghostridden thrill
I cast myself into the unknown to float away in the nightO, mighty forefather
Mystic Draugadrottin
Show me the path
down to NifelhelGuide me to the entrance
Guide me through the netherworlds
Down the roots of Heldrasill
Aah, it's so cold hereSo this is the kingdom
The domain of the frozen great
There I can see the ancients
Gigantic hrimthursarThrough Elivagor that cross the sphere
A frozen river of giant tears
Through Helivagor, the white domain
The hrimthurs dwelling where Ymer reignsO, Aurgelmer Oceans made of blood
Mountains made of bones
and the earth is flesh
The moon is full
The sky is clear
The night is still
O, AurgelmerIn the frozen empire
So far away
I travel over iceclothed mountains
Far away aloneI start to freeze
I start to shiver as my aura turns pale
Into second death
As I recieve the last kiss from Hel
