

Five Minutes Away (When Punx Attack Magicians)

Bodyjar

Now you think you know what to do And things are coming back to you Don't tell me it's hard to see It'll work out right Don't tell me it's hard to see All you need is five minutes away Your turning every stone today It'll work out right I can't believe you lied to me Dissolving everything away There's no use trying to explain And every time you cross that line Now you think you know what to do There's always something else to prove Don't tell me it's hard to see it'll work out right Just in time for somebody to say I'll leave it here for you it's ok Don't tell me it's hard to see it'll work out right I can't believe you lied to me There's no use trying to explain
Dissolving everything away (x2) And every time you cross that line
