

Must Be a Reason

Pokey LaFarge

I lit a fire in my heart for you
But all you give me is cold, cold rain
Said you wanted a diamond ring
In return I get a ball and chain Well, I don't need nobody telling me what I already know Must be a reason
I love you
It's cause you're crazy
And I'm a crazy fool
My heart was just a thing you stole
Polished up and made shine like gold
Now it's just another thing you got Buried down in your jewelry box But I could never leave you, who else could make pain feel so good Must be a reason
I love you
It's cause you're crazy
And I'm a crazy fool
And I know, yes I know, oh I know
The reason I will never go
Though you make me cry
Without you I would die
Cause it's plain to see
You're the same kinda crazy as me
