Believe In Dreams

Biscaine

I know days will come and go
And baby, I'll grow old but I will die
For now is it worth it to be sad?
It is harder to be glad to be alive
But the trouble I have caused, I wonder
Where do I belong, is it here?
Believe in dreams you love so much
Let the passion of your heart, make them real
And tell all the ones you love
Everything about the love you feel
Laugh about the past and secretly
Wish we could go back and save the child
As I look around this room
Seeing worried eyes that know
It's time we cannot buy
Was this worth the time to write?
Was this worth the time to write?
Was this worth the time to write?
Was this worth the time to write?
I believe in dreams
I believe in dreams
I believe in dreams
I believe in you
Believe in dreams you love so much
Let the passion of your heart, make them real
And tell all the ones you love
Anything and everything you feel
I believe in dreams
I believe in dreams
I believe in dreams
