In Battle There Is No Law

Bolt Thrower

In the fight for existence and life
There is no law
And in the presence of eternal death
There is no lawAnd just the struggle for power, the domination prevails
An arising slaughter
In [Incomprehensible], every man for himself
As in battle there is no lawCountless numbers die in war's path
Armies falling to our wrath
Warriors of power marching to fight
Destruction, killing, all that's in sightRaise the shield or be cast in to death
Take a final, look your final breath
Innocent victims of war
No turning back, in battle there is no lawAwaiting the slaughter, time stands still Thoughts fade away, so does your will
Enemy close in, blood on their mind
You won't die once, die a thousand timesRaise the shield or be cast in to death
Take a final look your final breath
Innocent victims of war
No turning back, in battle there is no lawSoldiers of hatred, killing corps of war
Bodies litter the field, what was it for?
Stench of death, no victory for this night
Plead for mercy, you have no rightRaise the shield or be cast in to death
Take a final, look your final breath
Innocent victims of war
No turning back, in battle there is no lawNo law
No law
